NEW YORK, April 10. The announcement of Lee's surrender, set night, created the greatest excitement in this city, and impromptu illumination of many private dwellings quickly followed; the stre is were filled with people, hurrah-ing, singing and dancing with joy.

We have to day received dispatches from almost every city, village and hamlet in the country, showing that the same joy prevails throughout the land. CHICAGO April 10. The stores, courts and public offices are The stores, courts and public offices are nearly all closed to-day. Business is entirely suspended and the day given up to rejoicing over the news. The procession this afternoon, consisting of the Fire Department, Bensvolent Societies, and citizens generally, was over a mile long. The enthusiasm to-night is at fever heat. A number of public buildings and private residences were brilliantly illuminated. A salute of 200 guns was fired to-day. The band accordingly played "Dixie," with extraordinery vigor, when three cheers and a tiger were given, followed by the tune of "Yankee Doodle."

The President then proposed three rousing cheers for Grant and all under his command, and next, three cheers for the proposed of the contract of navy and all its forces. They were most enthusiastically given. The President then retired amid huzas and the tune of "Hail Columbia," and the firing of cannon.

The 5th corps and cavalry pushed on to Jetterville, on the Danville Railroad, and arrived there without any fighting, until the night of the 4th. It appears that Lee ordered that portion of his army cut off by our piercing his line on Sunday, to join him at Amelia Court House; fearing to have them attempt to reach Burkaville Junction, and so on to Danville. When General Grant reached Notaway Court House, a staff officer arrived, stating that Sheridan had encountered the enemy in small force at Jetterville, and had drived him, making important captures.

Our column had intended to go into camp, but Grant thought Lee's only hope was in forced marches, and he therefore ordered the advance continued. Whenever Grant was recognized as he road along the line, the delight of the soldiers was ex-pressed in the most enthusiastic manner.
